COLORED MEN AND THE ARMY

Governor Russell's Wisdom in Appointing Young as Colonel.

I shall not accuse my people of cowardice because they failed to answer the first appeal to their patriotism since the emancipation. It might be that their enthusiasm has abated, and just a little timidity has followed. But however this may be let us remember our obligations in the present crisis. We are citizens: Shall we recline supinely beneath the umber shades of peace while our Anglo-Saxon brother defends the stars and stripes and covers himself with a new glory in a struggle against human servitude?

We clamor for the best of respect from the other race but that comes only to nations whose valor is unquestioned. A few years ago it was sufficient to point with pride to the fallen forests and the well drained bottoms, but now the best blood of a thousand Negro braves must demonstrate our

It is not enough to remember the death of Attucks, the gallant charge at Fort Wagner, the massacre at Fort Pillow, or even the heroic suffering of the blacks before Santiago; but the sons of sable Ham must answer an hundred thousand strong.

"Whether on the scaffold high, Or in the battle van,

The fittest place that man can die, Is where he dies for man."

It is effeminate to say that we cannot leave our loved ones, for the cultured whites who in two regiments from North Carolina answered their country's call were sundered from the best social circles, good positions and their loved ones.

I regre' to know that out of the 540 men expected on the 7th inst., only 190 showed up at Fort Macon. Let the young men awake from their lethargy and like the Green Mountain boys of the revolution, rally around the stars and stripes, leave your names upon history's pages, silence the ridicule of your enemies, solve the problem before the world.

Some claim that the colored soldiers failed because Governor Russell by reason of political reasons appointed Jas. H. Young to the position of Col. and that he said Young was incompe-

I have great faith in the ability of Governor Russell. I think he used his best judgment in this appointment and has appointed one of the best men

It is true that Col. Young has a popolitical record and a good one too: So have nearly three-fourths of the army appointments, but that is no evidence that Gov. Russell has shown any political favors. I think as a result of his good judgment he has appointed one of the fittest colored sons of the Old North State. Colonel Young will make history for the race, history of which none need be ashamed. I think his patriotism was heroically displayed inhis pugnacious articles hurled against the enemies of the present administration. Add to this the inspiration eminating from a struggle for freedom, and I think he will make a soldier whose equal we have not yet produced. J. F. Lee. Pastor Trinity A. M. E. Zion Church.

A Handsome Catalogue.

The Telegram acknowledges the receipt of the new catalogue of Oak Ridge Institute. It is perhaps, little enough to say it is one of the handsomest school catalogues we have ever seen. It is beautiful in design, the work is done in a most artistic manner, the illustrations are excellent and of an attractive nature, and the book is full of interesting matter relative to the history of this splendid institution of learning. Oak Ridge Institute has just closed a prosperous school year and the prospects are bright for the future. Located in one of the most beautiful and healthful sections of North Carolina, and managed by such men as Prof. J. A. and M. H. Holt, this school ranks high and de-

WILL BOMBARD ALL FORTS

THE FOURTH MANILA EXPEDITION

One Despatch Says Bombardment of Santiago Postponed-The Situation in the City is Critical. By Cable THE TELEGRAM

Madrid, July 9-It is rumored that the Spanish government has received a despatch from Captain-General Blanco which announces that Admiral Sampson had sent him a telegraphic dispatch summoning the Spanish commander to order the evacuation of Cuba within forty eight hours and warning him that in ease the demand is not granted the Americans will bombard all the forts in Cuba.

BOMBARDMENT POSTPONED. Off Santiago, July 9-The time of the truce, which would have expired today at noon, has been extended by General Shafter until four o'clock this afternoon. General Linares had asked that additional time be given him in which to consider the terms of capitulation. The situation in the city is critical and the whole population of the city is clamoring for its surrender and thereby save loss of life and property. The officers of the civil government of the province of Santiago de Cuba, mayor of the city of Santiago and the chief judge of the province have fled to El Caney despite the orders issued by General Linares for them to remain in the city. The officers say that the report of the arrival of General Pando and reinforcements in Santiago is untrue and that the Spanish general is still at Manzanillo. Many Spanish regulars and volunteers are deserting and joining the Americans. The fact that a request for the postponement of the time when the truce shall end and bombardment of the city shall begin indicates a hesitation on the part of the home government and it is believed that the city will surrender.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS. Tampa, July 9-Four transport vessels with wounded troops and marines from Cuba has arrived. END OF THE PLEASURE TRIP

Suez, July 9-Admiral Camara's fleet has re-entered the Suez canal and is now on its way back to Spain.

FAVORABLE PROGRESS. San Francisco, July 9-General Otis reports favorable progress with the fourth Manilla expedition. There will probably be included in the fleet six transports. Milier will probably sail in a few days on board the Bennington to Hawaii to give official notice to the islanders of the action of congress in the matter of annexation. A New York syndicate tried to obtain four million dollars in Hawaiian bonds, but failed, as there has been no issue. The annexation of Hawaii has given American registry to fifty-three vessels. HAWAHAN COMMISSION.

Washington, July 9-President Mc-Kinley announced the appointment of Senators Cullom and Morgan, and Representatives Sanford B. Dole, of Honolulu, and W. F. Frear as members of the Hawaiian commission.

WATSON GOES TUESDAY.

Washington, July 9-The officials of the navy department say that Commodore Watson will start in command of the Eastern squadron for Spain next Tuesday. He will start from Cuba and will go direct to the Spanish coast. All of the colliers to be used in carrying coal for his fleet will load at Norfolk and start Monday.

The First Fallen Hera. Under the title of "The First Fallen Hero," "Worth Bagley, U. S. Navy, His Life for His Country," a very handsome book appears today. It is published by Samuel W. Bowman, of Norfolk, and was prepared by Mr. Josephus Daniels in response to a request made to the family of Ensign Bagley. The illustrations are all from photographs. The cover has the portrait of the gallant young officer, the national flag, and also North Carolina and Cuban flags and the torpedo boat Winslow, on which he lost his life in Cardenas Bay, May 11.

EWART'S NOMINATION.

It Finally Goes Over, Along With Those of Many Others,

Washington, July 8-The executive ession of the senate held just prior to adjournment today, was devoted largely to cases to which there was no objection, but no time of any consequence was given to any one case. With the time fixed for final adjournment, all appreciated that any determined opposition would inevitably result in defeat. On this account a number of nominations went had occasion to call at Ruffin Edover. Among them were those oi H. G. Ewart, to be judge of the district court for the Western district of North Carolina, and Edward R. Meek, to be judge of the Northern district of the blockading fleet report the destruction of the Spanish steamship Villa Verde off Fort Mariel. The vessel was loaded with ammunition and supplies for General Blanco. She was sighted at midnight Wednesday, by dawn she was completely destroyed. The blockading steamship Hawk overhauled her while she was steaming eastward close to the shore. The Hawk fired across her bow but t was ineffectual and the Villa Verde continued her course. The blockading vessel opened fire in earnest disabling the ship and set her on fire. The Spaniards ran her ashore and beached her. At this point the Hawk was reinforced by the Castine and by a well-aimed shell from the latter boat, hit her squarely and blew her to pieces. The majority of the crew escaped by swimming ashore.

A CONVICT SPRINTER.

Man Wanted in North Carolina Leads Officers a Lively Chase.

About 9:30 o'clock yesterday morn ing, Robert Aiken, an escaped convict from North Carolina, enjoyed a chase he will perhaps never forget. Officer J. S. Wynn, who has been doing special police duty recently, munds' factory, on High street, yesterday morning, and while in the factory recognized one of the hands therein as the man Robert Aikens, wanted by the North Carolina authorities.

Officer Wynn walked up to the negro and demanded his surrender, whereupon Aikens made a break for the door, which he gained, and from which he rushed into the street. The officer was not on duty at the time, and was unarmed, so that he could' do nothing more than chase the negro.

DownHigh street they ran into Union down Union into Spring, and under the Star warehouse culvert. Out from under the culvert then back into Union street, up Union back to Spring and across the canal, up the canal bank to the ice factory and out to the river and up the river bank to the dam. Before they reached the canal they had been joined by W. E. Waller, who being somewhat fresher than the officer outstripped him and gained on the neg ro who had reached the dam and was crossing on the rocks. The white men took the water and rocks below the dam and followed close behind him. Seeing they were making better time, the negro also took the river below the dam and rushed headlong down towards the bridge, which he passed under safely turned towards the bank near the oil tanks above the railroad bridge. Here he was met by Officer Hall, he turned and started down the river, but Officer Hutson was just fixing to embark in a row boat, armed to the teeth. Seeing this the negro started to the right bank, where he was covered by a repeating shot gun in the hands of Officer Hatcher. With a nitiful look of despair, the hunted convict ran to the officer and held out his arms while the steel nippers were locked on his wrists. /

Aikens is a North Carolina convict having escaped several months ago. He was serving a four-year sent nice for grand larceny at Greensboro, and had served nearly two years when he escaped.

It is thought that a small reward is offered for Aikens by the governor of North Carolina.-Danville Register. Puts, 67; @; Calls, 69; Curb

CHILD FOUND IN THE WOODS.

He Had Probably Been Abandoned by HIs Parents. Yesterday morning in the woods near Holt's school house, about three miles from town on the road to the poor house, Martha Green and Louisa Cunningham found a colored child about fifteen months old. It is a male child. From the nature of the surroundings the colored women who found him believe that he had been abandoned. No clue leading to his identity was found on him and how long he had been in the woods or by whom he was left are unsolved problems. The child was taken to Louisa Cunningham's house and has been cared for there.

The two women came to Clerk Ragan's office this morning and reported the find and wanted to know what disposition should be made of the child. The county commissions not being in session nothing in regard to the child can be done. Mr. Ragan, however, told the woment to keep the boy and when the commissioners meet on next Monday, the matter would receive attention.

In the meantime, the child is holding his own and his newly found friends are anxiously awaiting the arrival of his parents.

THE ANGLO-SAXON LAWYER.

The following excerpt from an address by Hon. John W. Akin to the Georgia bar association is worthy the attention not only of lawyers but of all American citizens:

been a crimson sacrifice for freedom on many a battlefield. His hand has held aloft his country's flag in many an hour of deepest danger. His history in war is illustrious and honorable. But his greatar glory lies in this: that he has stood for law, right and freedom as against the more insidious peril of velvet depotisms usurning forbidden powers in the name of law and under protection of the flag. Not all the armies of the earth, not all the navies of the sea can take our country's citadels or furl the stars and stripes. If this land of the free and home of the brave shall ever be a despot's realm it will be because some invisible enemy shall, with a whispered voice and silent footfall steal within our midst and with soft, smooth hand strangle liberty before we hear her ery. When such a crisis comes to foresee such danger and to prevent such ruin, this sweet land of liberty will confidently call, and not in vain upon the American lawyer."

The speaker has perhaps not overdrawn the work of the Anglo-Saxon lawyer. At the same time he has uttered certain truths that it is well not to forget. It is the highest ideal that the American lawer can set for himself "to foresee such danger and to prevent such ruin."

Apart from the cry of demagogues, there has been a radical change in certain departments of American jurisprudence-a change that the conservative lawyer will hardly sanction.

It must be his task in future to hold the balances even between the wild and irresponsible radicals on the one hand, who would impair the efficiency of the courts, endanger all law and and order and cripple our development, and the grasping selfishness of aggregated wealth which seeks to unduly influence judicial opinion under the cry that the rights of property are

SATURDAY'S LITERARY CHAT.

[All books and magazines mentioned below nay be had at Wharton's book store.]

John Luther Long, whose "Madam Butterfly" ruffled some feathers on the "unco guid," contributes another delightful story to the July Century-'Purple Eyes''-delicate "as a Japanese fan." Of quite opposite talent, the writer almost bids fair to be the Kipling of Japan. "By Order of the Admiral" belongs to a class of stories that periodical readers will recognize as largely a growth of the last decade -a romance told in the language of ne ordinary educated "man in the street" and with only that tinge of idealizing that makes a story palatable to the imaginative. The characters are not overly well done. When they come to be published in book form it will be found that "The Adventures of Francois," the Century serial, and 'Red Rock'', Scribner's, will be the two books of the year. The former story grows on one as an entertaining and even vivid story of the days of Rohespierre-and it is a "story without a heroine" thus far.

"Woman in Journalism," by Anne O'Hogan, one of the craft, in Munsey, will explode many a current opinion as to that calling. The writer, from a practical experience of what she discusses, shows that the smooth periods of the young ladie's college commencement orator, in an environment of blue ribbons and red roses, are to be discounted somewhat in estimating the chances of success in it. According to the writer the woman journalist is tolerated, not desired, and her foothold is precarious and tentative. "The Joke Club," in the same periodical, raises the question, What is a magazine editor for?

It is a pity that the expressive and convenient term "yellow" has not been extended to magazines as well as newspapers. Munsey, for example, is distinctly and ineradically yellow. It is more-it is enough to hopelessly corrupt the literary taste of any young man or woman, whose taste is in process of formation, who will read twelve consecutive numbers of it and not read something else as a corrective. Not that it is immoral-it is worse: hopelessly vulgar, cheap, incompetent. How "The Joke Club" can ever have wedged its way into the columns of any periodical, save one of those printed and circulated from Augusta, Maine, at twenty-five cents a The Anglo-Saxon lawyer is in his year and with "an 18k solid gold ring inmost heart a patriot. His blood has given with each subscription," is a mystery. Surely Mr. Frank A. Munsey must make a specialty of rejected manuscripts - school girl manuscripts into the bargain.

It may be noted in passing that the cheap magazines are not driving the higher priced out of the market to any appreciable extent. The reason of it is not far to seek. Periodicals like Scribner's and the Century have always circulated among readers who know what they want and do not care for something "just as good," in patent medicine lingo, in the place of it. The man who wants "something to read," and does not care in the least what, buys a copy of Munsey and -looks at the pictures of actresses.

A new turn has been given to the old question, "Has America a Litera by Prof. Brander Mathews ture? book, "An Introduction to the Study of American Literature." Heretofore the answer to the question has almost uniformly been negative. The reviews of the book abroad, however, claim to see evidence of a more or less clearly defined differentation from mere English literature, a conscious striving after something, and its partial attainment, that shall make American literature something more than English books written on this side of the Atlantic. It is worthy to be noted that M. Brunetiere, the able editor of the Revue des Deux Monde and the critic M. Wzewa take the affirmative

James Outerson Pratt, now an inmate of the Guilford, England, workhouse, claims to have once owned all the land upon which Johannesburg now stands. Pratt is the son of a former high sheriff of Northumberland.

What is Worse Than Eczema?

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

Last fall I was a severe sufferer from eczema, which effected my face, hands and feet—it was a dry eczema, which would form scales and rough hands, and dry places, which could be cut off as if it were a corn. It was very an as if it were a corn. It was very an as if it were a corn. It was very an as if it were a corn. It was very an as if it were a corn. It was very an as if it were a corn. It was very an accordance of the corn of the as if it were a corn. It was very annoying, especially on my feet. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing eradicated it from my system until at the earnest solicitation of friends, I tried Mrs. Joé Person's Remedy. I got one-half dozen bottles last spring; at 11 a m by the pastor. and 8:15 p m by Rev. T. C. Hodgin. All cordially invited to attend these services. am now taking it and am almost entirely cured of the trouble; think it will only be necessary to use a few more bottles before I will be entirely well. The trouble effected my general health and I was fearfully run down, but since taking the Remedy am now perfectly well in health.

Tobacco For the Army.

Two express cars loaded with Black well's Bull Durham smoking tobacco came in from Durham last evening and went south immediately by the southbound local. There were forty thousand pounds of this famous tobacco which is being hurried to the army at Santiago. On each of the twelve hundred boxes was stamped "Smith Commisary, Port Tampa."

Expression of Thanks.

We wish, through the columns of the Telegram to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness and many tokens of friendship and sympathy extended us, in our recent sad bereavement in the death of our dear little girl.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Spencer.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea Order Today will be interested in the experience of rance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrated me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by C. E. Holton.
